Skull Fractured.

An unfortunate affair took place in the saloon of Steadman & Walsh, in this city, Tuesday morning. W. O. Butler is a farmer residing on the Bethlehem pike, near this city, and he has some boys who are inclined to be somewhat of a lively disposition. On Monday night, two of them—David and Henry—went to a dance, and did not return home. After breakfast the old gentleman proceeded to look them up, came to town and found them at the saloon. He decided to break up their staying out at night, and unbraided them about their conduct. A fracas was the result and the father struck Henry on the head with a poker, fracturing his skull, and otherwise bruising him. Several times the boys had the old man down, but would not strike him. It is said that Henry was seriously hurt.

Butler is the father of Thos. Butler, who was killed two years ago by J. W. Wright, and Wright is now serving a life sentence for the crime.

It came through the Republican party."

Very Unkind.

The Carlisle Mercury, whose editor made a living in this city, for many years, has this to say:

"Paris is soon to have blood hounds, to be purchased jointly by the city and county, to aid in running down criminals. Suppose they try them in the city first? Wouldn't there be a 'dog fight' between the blood hounds and the 'blood suckers' Paris will be 'strictly in it.'"

The Legislature.

In the lower house, Mr. Thompson, of this county, offered a bill for the punishment of vagrants.

No emergency clause is attached to the school book law as yet, but such may be the case ere the legislature adjourns. If so, the law will go into effect sooner.

A bill is to be introduced in the Legislature by Representative Drewry directing a change in the Constitution for a return to the viva voce system of voting. It is said to have many advocates.

The Senate passed the bill extending the term of State Librarian from two to four years, and increasing the salary from $1,000 to $1,200. It also passed the bill allowing the Attorney General two assistants.

Committee on Education No. 1, of the House, unanimously decided to report favorably the bill prohibiting the coeducation of races in Kentucky. The committee heard statements from persons advocating the bill, and also from President Frost, of Berea College, which institution will be affected by the passage of the measure.

It is reported that the Woman's Club, of Lexington, will ask the Legislature to pass a law providing for separate waiting rooms for white and colored people at railway depots.

General News.

The handsome $14,000 city school building at Georgetown, Ky., was destroyed by fire.

Miss Nora Neal, after viewing the remains of Ellis Kinkade at Lexington, returned home and attempted to commit suicide by shooting herself, but the wound is pronounced not dangerous.

In Washington it is believed the Louisville Pension Agency contest has narrowed down to Messrs. A. T. Wood, of Mt. Sterling, and Irwin, of Louisville, and Judge Morrow, of Somerset.

A woman at Seattle, Wash., overcome by curiosity, secreted herself and witnessed the installation of her husband in a lodge of Elks.

An unidentified man committed suicide near Covington.

CUPID'S ARROW.

At the Reed Hotel, Lexington, on Tuesday, Mr. Jessie B. Reid and Miss Mamie Lowry, and Mr. Jas. Gillespie and Miss Willa Banta, of the Flat Rock neighborhood, this county, were married.

An eloping couple were married by the Rev. J. W. Mitchell in Covington, Tuesday morning. The parties to the contract were Melville W. Lewis, of this city, and Annette Williams, of this county.

—Mr. R. L. Simms, merchant of Woodlake, Franklin county, and formerly of this county, and Miss Kate Hayden, of Peak's Mill, were married in the parlors of the Reed Hotel, at Lexington, yesterday.

—The marriage of Miss Mary Lou Fithian and Dr. Marion Hargis Dailey took place at St. Peter's Episcopal church, in this city, at 2 o'clock, Wednesday afternoon.

The church was well filled with friends to witness the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Henry Knott.

The dame of honor was Mrs. Chas. B. May, sister of the bride.

Mr. Wm. Webb was best man, and the ushers were F. P. Lowry, John Brennan, Dr. C. G. Daugherty, and W. M. Hinton, Jr. The bride was given away by her aged grandfather, Dr. Wash Fithian.

Miss Frances Johnson presided at the organ.

The bride is the handsome daughter of Mrs. Edward Fithian, while the groom is a most prosperous dentist, who has built up a large practice in this city, and is one of our most popular young society men. CHURCH CHIMES.

—Communicants of the Presbyterian church at Lexington will no longer be required to partake of the communion wine by sipping out of the same vessel, but hereafter the innovation of glasses will be introduced.

On Sunday morning Rev. R. O. Kirkwood, pastor of the church, announced that, beginning with next Sunday, communicants at his church will use individual glasses in order to remove an objection which had reached his ears against all communicants drinking out of the same vessel. The individual glasses were presented to the church by the young men's Club and the demands made by the advocates of hygienic principles are responsible for the change.

Old members do not take kindly to the new system, as they say it will impair the efficacy of the communion.

—The Carlisle Mercury, says: "Rev. George O. Barnes closed his meeting here Thursday night and left Friday morning for Mt. Olivet. It seems as though his last sermon was the one that killed the people off real good, he preached too much Dowie for them. In fact Brother Barnes is considerably off in his religious views from what he was thirty years ago."
